The election just passed was one of the quietest ever held in Middleburg. Only two or three drunken men were seen in town during the day. The result of the election was not at all surprising and in the whole is most gratifying to the democrats. The supposition that the democrate were backing Tarter, the independent republican candidate for county attorney, injured Jones' candidacy for judge. Whene'er I wish to get the news, Of all that's going on, The I. J. is the one I choose To give it good and strong.

I've tried the dailles of the state, And given them all a test; But this semi-weekly I shall take. It proves to be the best,

The editor is a democrat true, From bead to foot outright, And never fails to vote straight thro' No matter what's the fight.

This is an item I would give, As being a reason good For reading this and trying to live, Democracy as we should. He puts his soul into his work,

And labors night and day, He seeks no means by which to shirk, But works without delay.

For justice, too, he takes his stand, No prejudice displays, But give to each throughout the land, Their rights in all their ways.

He ever gives a hearty shake To every man he meets. If any man his friend can make, This too's the man he seeks.

The faces, too, he gives each week, Of some most prominent men, And this you know means no defeat. But victory in the end.

Last week he gave the handsome face Of one who lives in town, And in his journal gave a place,

To write a sketch profound. 'Tis true he gave the picture hair, And a body not so stout: But sure we see resemblance there,

That's fine beyond a doubt. Now who would fail to thus allow The publication rate? For then you win a handsome brow,

THOMAS C BALL

Mr. Ball is a recent addition to democratic ranks and is the gentleman who received a most insulting anonymous letter a few days ago because he had deserted the g. o. p. The letter stated that Mr. Ball would be driven out of town and then off of the earth, but up to the present he has not been molested. Mr. Ball is a big real estate owner, conducts a grocery on Depot street and is a straight forward business man. For years he has made it a practice to spend his Sundays with his aged mother and every Sabbath morning he can be seen walking out to her home, some five or six miles in the country. His devotion to his mother is one of his many good traits and should cover up his faults, if he has any.

A domestic row at Middlesboro resulted in the serious cutting of Will Langle. It is not known who cut Langle, as his wife and several of his sons and daughters were fighting him. Herbert A. Pasho started sixteen years ago as the conductor of a horse car in Cambridge, Mass. Recently he was made general superintendent of the elevated service of the L road in Boston. Felix Belanger, aged 55, residing near Winona, Mich., killed his wife and seven-year-old child with an ay. He then went in the cellar and cut his own throat with a butcher knife. The bodies of the wife and child were horribly mangled. Belanger is supposed to have been temporarily insane.

At Pine Grove, Rowan county, in a general fight George Hogge and son, Ray, were seriously shot and Charley Hogge was killed. John Shumate, who did most of the shooting, was seriously wounded. At Pearcy precinct, same county, a fight occurred between David Jones and William Morris. Jones was shot three times and instantly killed. Morris was slightly wounded.

A statue of Thomas Jefferson, presented to the city of Louisville by I. and I. B Bernheim, leading citizens, will be dedicated and unveiled tomorrow. Gov. W. O. Bradley will be orator, and Mayor Weaver will accept the statue for the city. It stands in front of the court-house. The statue is of bronze, nine feet high, and rests on a base representing the Liberty Bell. There are four figures at the top representing Liberty, Justice, Equality and the Brotherhood of Man. It was modeled in Rome by Sir Moses Ezekiel, and cast in Berlin. It cost $60,000.
